

Piq ki?láwna: Highway 31A Corridor Retallack, BC

Rewilding Piq ki?láwna?

Sinixt Peoples' tmxʷula?xʷ encompasses the 500 square kilometers of Piq ki?láwna?, an important wildlife corridor, which sits in the heart of the globally unique Inland Temperate Rainforest bioregion. Valley-bottom areas around the old Retallack townsite fall within the Slocan Moist Warm Interior Cedar – Hemlock (ICHmw2) biogeoclimatic subzone. Culturally important, this area is also the home of the White Grizzly (Piq ki?láwna?), held sacred by the Sinixt. Although the Piq ki?láwna? area benefits from the Goat Range and Kokanee Parks to the north and south, its habitat is fragmented by Highway 31A. As the essential connective corridor between these parks, the area is also impacted by industry and recreation tenures

North Valley Huts gratefully acknowledges that we live and work on the traditional, ancestral and unceded territory of Sinixt Peoples. I make this acknowledgment to show my respect for the tmxʷula?xʷ, and Sinixt Nation. I feel privileged and grateful to be here, and I invite those reading this to explore their own relationship to place."

Legend

Points of Interest

Type

Public Parking

Rail Trail

Retallack Lodge

NORTH VALLEY HUTS

Trails

Ancient Cedar Trail

Rail Trail

Local Roads

Non Motorized Rd

Lyle Brennan Rd

London Ridge Rd

Forest Service Rd

Bear Face FSR

Murray Cr FSR

Whitewater FSR

Upper Whitewater Rd

Private Property

North Valley Huts

Other private Land

